

PLATE 10.

Top Row — An advertisement of McKee and Brothers, Pittsburgh, for 1893 calls this pattern "Majestic". It is very similar to the pattern "Sheaf and Block", illustrated in Plate 12, Row 3. Because the pieces in Plate 10, this row, are identical in pattern to the McKee advertisement, note the divided block in "Majestic" is squared to the top of the pieces, while in Plate 12, "Sheaf and Block", the block is diamond-shaped, with a point towards the top. 1. Goblet, "Majestic" pattern,  $5\frac{7}{8}$  inches high. 2. Tumbler,  $3\frac{7}{8}$  inches high. 3. Covered butter dish,  $5\frac{1}{4}$  inches high. 4. Water carafe,  $8\frac{1}{4}$  inches high. 5. Toothpick holder,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches high. 6. Rose bowl, 4 inches high. 7. Cruet,  $6\frac{3}{4}$  inches high.

Second Row — "Roman Rosette" pattern, made around 1875-1880 by Bryce, Walker and Company, Pittsburgh, and later reissued around 1892 and 1898 by the U. S. Glass Co., the last time under the name of "No. 15030". 1. Salt shaker, 3 inches high. 2. Wine, 4 inches high. 3. Salt shaker, 3 inches high, notice the difference in the width of the ruby-stained top band between this piece and No. 1., same row. 4. Cream pitcher,  $5\frac{1}{4}$  inches high. 5. "Ivy-in-Snow" is a popular pattern, but with ruby-stained leaves, is quite rare. This pattern was introduced by the Cooperative Flint Glass Co., Beaver Falls, Pa., who produced it for years. Later, around 1937 to about 1942, called "Forest Ware", the Phoenix Glass Co. of Monaca, Pa. produced this pattern in clear. It is being reproduced today in quantity. 5. Wine, 4 inches high. 6. Goblet,  $5\frac{3}{4}$  inches high. 7. Spoonholder, or open sugar,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  inches high. None of the previous three pieces has ruby-stained band at top. 8. Goblet, ruby band, clear leaves,  $5\frac{3}{4}$  inches high. 9. Tumbler, ruby band and ruby leaves,  $3\frac{1}{2}$  inches high.

Third Row — "Crystal Wedding" was advertised by the Adams Glass Co., Pittsburgh, in 1874, and was reissued after 1891 by the U.S. Glass Co. It is sometimes confused with "Teardrop and Thumbprint", see Plate 13, Second Row, Nos. 1, 2, & 3, and has erroneously been called "Collins". It is being reproduced today. 1. Covered butter dish,  $5\frac{1}{4}$  inches high,  $6\frac{1}{4}$  inches square. 2. Spoonholder,  $4\frac{3}{4}$  inches high. 3. Goblet,  $5\frac{3}{4}$  inches high. 4. Tumbler, ruby-stained bottom, clear top,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  inches high. 5. Covered sugar, 7 inches high. 6. Tumbler, ruby-stained top, clear bottom,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  inches high. 7. "Whitton" or "Heavy Gothic" was made by King Glass Co. in Pittsburgh, and in 1892 reissued by U.S. Glass Co. as "No. 15014". Covered sugar, 7 inches high. 8. Cream pitcher,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  inches high. 9. Goblet,  $6\frac{1}{4}$  inches high. 10. Covered butter dish,  $5\frac{1}{4}$  inches high.

Bottom Row — "Sawtooth Honeycomb", sometimes called "Serrated Block and Loop", was made about 1906 by Steiner Glass Co., Buckhannon, W. Va., and in 1908 by Union Stopper Co., Morgantown, W. Va. 1. Water pitcher, scalloped top,  $7\frac{1}{4}$  inches high. 2. Tumbler,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  inches high. 3. Wine set of tray, decanter and glasses, in "Aurora" pattern, sometimes erroneously called "Diamond Horseshoe". Made in 1888 by the Brilliant Glass Works, Brilliant, Ohio and its successor, the Greensburg Glass Co., Greensburg, Pa. Decanter,  $11\frac{3}{4}$  inches high, wine,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  inches high, tray, 10 inches diameter. This pattern was also made clear and also with etching. 4. "Frost Crystal" advertised in 1906 by the Tarentum Glass Co., Tarentum, Pa. Tumbler, heavy gilt band, 4 inches high. 5. Water pitcher, heavy gilt band, clear handle,  $8\frac{1}{4}$  inches high.
